

MINE'S DEAD END NOW TOTALS UP TEN

Cause of Explosion Not Yet Explained; Black Damp Adds to Horrors.

ROSLYN, Wash., Oct. 4.—The number of dead as a result of yesterday's explosion of fire damp in No. 4 shaft of the Northwestern Improvement company's mine is ten, Otis Newhouse, outside foreman, having died today. John X. Jones, an engineer aged sixty, who was supposed to have been fatally burned, is recovering.

Newhouse, who was forty years of age, came from Streator, Ill., a year ago, and his family arrived recently. At the time of the explosion Newhouse was on the top of the shaft. The explosion hurled him high aloft and he fell on a pile of sawdust 450 feet from the mouth of the shaft with his clothing torn from him and his body frightfully burned.

At the shaft hole conditions were much improved today. Strong streams of water were kept pouring down the shaft all night and no smoke is now visible. It is impossible to tell how seriously the mine is damaged and how long it will take to get it back to work. Last night a rescuing party entered the mine, which is directly connected with the shaft. The party penetrated the Dip mine, hoping to enter the shaft by a circuitous route. It had proceeded 3000 feet when it suddenly encountered blackdamp. Engineer Frank Good was overcome, but was dragged to safety. The others managed to escape. The blackdamp is spreading and it will require several days to pump it out. The explosion has not been explained. No shots were fired yesterday and the fire bosses reported that the mine was clear of any gas before the explosion. The coal company has promised to take care of the families of the victims.

Open to Attack.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—American and foreign naval officers gathered here who witnessed Wilbur Wright's flight up the Hudson today, while impressed with the manner in which he controlled his craft, nevertheless believe the machine would be an easy target for sharpshooters from the high ground.

This was the view taken by Commander Sims of the Minnesota, who pointed out that an aviator out of position would be equally out of position to drop a projectile on a battleship.

The consensus of opinion seemed to be that the aeroplane would be further perfected before it will be of great advantage in warfare, at least in an attack on the enemy's navy.

DANES JEALOUS OF HONORS SOUGHT

derstanding, I shall be glad to have the Associated Press announce, as coming from me, that I shall adhere to the original plan to have the University of Copenhagen make the first examination of my records, but that I shall ask the university to withhold the announcement of the result of such examination until the records shall have been examined simultaneously by all the geological societies of the world. I am sure they have been examined by the University of Copenhagen, duplicate copies of my records will be submitted to all the geological societies of the world and to any other scientific bodies desiring them.

Dr. Cook at first expressed an intention of eabing to this effect to Denmark, but afterward decided the transmission of his statement to that country through the Associated Press would be preferable.

PEARY ARCTIC CLUB DISCUSSES CONTROVERSY

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The officers of the Peary Arctic Club held a meeting today formally to pass on the proof offered by Commander Robert E. Peary to show that Dr. Cook did not reach the pole. The statement will be made public in a few days.

The following resolution was adopted by the officers of the club:

"That the Peary Arctic Club cordially welcomes Commander Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., and his family, and gratulates him upon the attainment, April 6, 1909, of the north pole, crowning years of arduous Arctic work, of devotion to his country, and loyalty to country, and invites him to the club."

"That the club tenders to the officers, scientific staff and men of the expedition its thanks for the splendid work, with superior discipline and excellent teamwork, resulted in complete success."

The crew of the Arctic ship Roosevelt was paid off today and given transportation home to Newfoundland.

OFFICIAL WELCOME IN THE NATION'S CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—"This is the home of the American flag which you carried to the north pole," was the expression of a recognition given Dr. Frederick A. Cook and his companion, Dr. Robert E. Peary, by the president of the board of commissioners, in officially welcoming the explorer at the municipal building today in the presence of a crowd that filled the hall.

"President Taft, Admiral Dewey, General Greely and Admiral Schley and other distinguished residents of Washington have individually expressed their appreciation of your great achievement," said the commissioner.

"It is fitting that the entire national capital, through its executive government, should give you a hearty welcome and cordial congratulations."

Dr. Cook was given an ovation when he arrived at the municipal building, and when he arose to respond to the commissioners' tribute, he was greeted with prolonged cheers.

"I fall to you words to suit my appreciation of your kindness," Dr. Cook said. "I am a man of few words and I can only say I thank you."

The explorer then stood in the center of the room, beside the commissioners MacFarland and Judson, and was given a hearty handclasp by the hundreds who passed in line.

TAFT PROMISES TO ENFORCE THE LAWS

as we go with reference to the condition of the country and at the same time to give you a superficial aspect of him whom it has been your good or bad fortune to elect president of the United States. I think that the personal touch between the people and those whom you honor by delegating authority temporarily is a good thing all around, so that you may know when I make my remarks and what personal touch with a great deal of emphasis, that I am still a poor mortal praying for assistance and hoping that you will forgive human error.

Everywhere in this country I have found evidences of prosperity from Boston to Portland, and if signs do not fail, we are upon an era of business enterprise and expansion that has never been known in this country. Now, with that I would not have you forget that there are certain responsibilities. We have had evils growing out of our prosperity. Men have seized power by means of accumulation of wealth and its use in methods that are not legal and cannot be approved, by way of monopoly and otherwise. Now we are attempting by the general laws of the United States to suppress that kind of abuse.

Praise for Teddy.

"They were brought to the attention of the people in a marvelous crusade by my predecessor, Theodore Roosevelt, and it is my duty to continue those policies and to enforce them as far as I may, and put upon the statute books or at least recommend to congress that there be put upon the statute books, those laws that shall clinch the progress which was made under him, which he reached and which we shall look forward to as a permanent condition."

"But the difficulty is that whenever everybody is prosperous, whenever everybody is comfortable, then it is that the evil influences of the steps in and helps along the evil cause. This is the time when we are apt to be inert and enjoy the things we have without looking forward in the future, and see the evils that are growing out of it. It is to the people that we must look for an enforcement of those principles."

Great Care Demanded.

"You should select your representatives and have them know you are watching them in congress, and see that they follow the line of enforcement. Of course, we want prosperity, but we desire prosperity in a way that there shall be an equality of opportunity among the individuals so that everybody will get his share, and that it shall not be confined to a few, who monopolize the means of production to the detriment of the rest of the people, and thus prevent that equality of distribution which we all like to see. It is a question of enforcement of the law. I think Mr. Roosevelt's course improved upon the business community and those gentlemen who were prone to make the means of monopoly the necessity for observing a higher standard in business, and that they were willing to lay down those other methods."

"Now, my fellow citizens, as I look out upon this audience, I feel sure that you are not only healthy in body, but healthy in mind; that you are in favor of the building of a new era in favor of decent government; that you are in favor of decent men and decent women, and that you look forward to the future as a time when we shall all grow better."

Truth is that money and wealth contribute nothing unless they enable us to make ourselves better, unless they enable us to think something of others and to help others—those who are down—onward on the progress of life."

"We cannot all be altruists in the sense that we can devote our attention to somebody else all the time, for we have to look to our own families; but I am sure that in the last generation there has been an improvement throughout our country with reference to a charitable feeling towards all on the part of each, and such on the part of each to help all."

Crowd Too Noisy.

The crowd that greeted the president at the capitol here tonight was so big and so noisy that he attempted to speak only for a few minutes. Those outside the outskirts of the throng, who numbered many thousands, kept shouting persistently to the effect that the entire audience got into a turmoil.

Mr. Taft refused several times to secure quiet. He appealed on the ground of hoarseness and a sore throat, but was not availed and after speaking briefly on the subject of conservation, arousing a cheer by the mention of Mr. Roosevelt's name, and declaring that he was heartily in favor of the proposed conservation of the Sacramento river, the president asked to be excused. He had no censure for the crowd, only sympathy, he declared.

In the library of the capitol building, before stepping on the platform to attend his public speech, President Taft was made an honorary member of the Sacramento Society of California Pioneers. This society is limited to those who came to California in 1849, and the original members of the society of 700 there are now only seven left. Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt preceded Mr. Taft as honorary members.

The Sacramento provided a novelty for the president's automobile ride through the city by having a band in a sight-seeing machine just in front of the car in which Mr. Taft rode.

FARMERS ARE VISITING THE WEATHER BUREAU

The large number of farmers in the city at present, because of the conference, has resulted in about fifty a day visiting the local weather bureau on the top floor of the Bowen block. Of all people except perhaps sailors the farmer keeps his eye on the weather, hence this week he is getting his year's supply of predictions wholesale right from headquarters.

Weatherman A. H. Thiessen takes pains to explain the mysteries of the office to all who call, as there is a close connection between the weather office and the farmer than with any other class of business in the state.

BIG BANQUET IS GIVEN BY JOLLY HOOS HOOS

Members Meet at Commercial Club and Have Pleasant Time.

"On the roof," after the concatenation, there were present just exactly sixty-five members of the great Concatenated Order of Hoos Hoos at the Commercial club, Monday night, on the occasion of the annual banquet of the organization. Every one was a perfect master of the black art and a possessor of nine lives. The twelve "kittens" who received their concatenation into the members of the order at the Commercial club, beginning at 9 o'clock, were as merry as the rest and everything passed off with the gaiety and jollity characteristic of meetings of the order.

Conspicuous at the banquet were Captain E. V. Smith, vice regent snark of the universe for Utah, Frank Murphy acted as toastmaster, and saw to it that each one of the newly initiated members of the order was properly acquainted with what he could do to prove his right to membership.

The banquet was arranged under the management of C. L. Moreland, A. E. Payne and A. B. Flickinger, and was tendered to the members of the order by the prominent lumber concerns of the west, as follows: Morrison, Merrill & Co., S. M. Morrison, E. S. Murphy & Co., T. H. Smith & Son, Rock Island Lumber and Lumber company, C. J. P. and M. Nibley, Lillard & Daley, Holman, Payne, Taylor, Armstrong Lumber company, Salt Lake Building and Manufacturing company, and the Grand Ronde Lumber company.

The members of the order met in the evening, after which adjournment was taken to the Commercial club, and preparations for the banquet were completed. It was exactly 11 o'clock when the guests seated themselves at the banquet table, and after a sumptuous repast the gaiety broke loose and proceeded at constantly accelerating ratio until along after the midnight hour.

Every one made a speech, and the wait of the snark and the wait of the snark were (not) the only night wailing trails.

The speakers praised first the lumber business; second, the Commercial club, and finally, the honorableConcatenated Order of Hoos Hoos. There were present representatives from practically every state of the intermountain country and the west. Every one voted the affair a great success, and the meeting broke up with many expressions of good will and hope for a continuance of the hearty good fellowship induced by association with the noble order, and with promises to remain true to the sign of the black cat.

LIBRARY AND GYMNASIUM COMMISSION ORGANIZING

The Utah library and gymnasium commission is organizing a convention to meet in the University of Utah on October 7, at 2 o'clock p. m., to arouse public enthusiasm in the formation of libraries all over the state. The commission has only $1000 to work with, and is relying upon the generosity of Governor Spry and other prominent citizens and officials will be present and lead their support to the movement.

A score of the towns in Utah are already making active strides in the direction of building libraries. Dr. Driggs, secretary of the university, and deeply interested in the work, Eureka will on October 13 dedicate its new library with a public banquet. Merrill will open a $30,000 armory and gymnasium. Toole will have a $5000 library building, while Cedar City, Vernal and Spanish Fork are also actively at work.

The members of the commission are Professor W. S. Swarth, president; Professor George H. Thomas, vice president; Dr. E. G. Gowan, John S. Welch and John M. Mills.

CAN COUNTY COMMISSIONERS REFUSE LIQUOR LICENSE?

According to Attorney General Barnes there is a legal uncertainty as to whether or not a board of county commissioners has the right to refuse a liquor license. The law is a bit muddy on the subject, apparently, and the attorney general hopes to have the question passed on by the supreme court during the October term in the case of Smith vs. the board of county commissioners of Morgan county.

The law says that cities and towns have the right to refuse licenses and that county commissioners may do so for good reasons. According to the attorney general, the law is not clear as to what are or are not good reasons, there is much dispute over, hence the suit before the court to settle the matter.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT.

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness."

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum, and it is such a comfort to me.' I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for coffee drinkers, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact."

"My first trial was a failure. The cook boiled it for five minutes, and it tasted so flat that I was in despair, but determined to give it one more trial. This time we followed the directions and boiled it fifteen minutes after the boiling began. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich, delicious flavor. In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition, and kept growing better and better month after month, until now I am perfectly healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to the nerve-destrorying regular coffee for anything in the world."

DISINFECTING CONCERN MUST USE MORE CARE

This Is the Order That Goes Out From City Board of Health.

The West Disinfecting company must use more care hereafter in fumigating and disinfecting work. This comes from the death in the Oxford apartment, almost two months ago, of young Corydon W. Higgins from deadly poisons used by this company.

J. W. Rice, local representative of the company, was summoned before the board of health Monday and interrogated as to the methods, chemicals and drugs employed by his company in its work. He told the board that prussic acid, a deadly poison, is used. His company advertises to kill only vermin and insects, though, he said.

Mr. Rice represented that Higgins' death was almost unavoidable, but the board of health instructed that warnings be posted on the doors of rooms being fumigated, and that it is necessary to keep persons ignorant of the situation from going in.

The city food inspector hereafter will take extra precaution to notify dairymen of such rooms to keep persons ignorant of the situation from going in. CASE MAY COME BEFORE STATE SUPREME COURT

Can any one legally cut a new bed for a stream and then use the old bed for private purposes? This is a question which the state game commission does not agree with Joseph Barker of Weber county. The case has been heard once and decided in favor of Barker, but will come before the Supreme court at the October term.

On the first week of the season on which are sundry springs and brooks good for breeding fish. For years fish were bred there, when Barker, so it is claimed, cut a new channel for Hunt Creek, and by so doing destroyed the Ogden river and took the breeding ground for a private fish hatchery. Barker claims that all he is required to do is to allow free passage for the creek through his land and remain all the rest as he sees fit, while the state fish guardians claim that Barker is attempting to bar the trout from its habitat contrary to a list of laws a foot long reaching from King John to Taft.

YOUNGBERG SENTENCED TO YEAR IN PRISON

Hyrum Youngberg, alias John Youngberg, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in Judge Lewis's division of the Third District court Monday and was sentenced to serve one year at hard labor in the state prison.

Youngberg was a horse from A. P. Rasmussen June 28 last. When first presented before Judge Lewis some time ago, he pleaded not guilty, but Monday he withdrew that plea and entered a plea of guilty. The board will have time for the passing of sentence, was sentenced.

Youngberg is a youth who gained quite a bit of notoriety in connection with his numerous escapades in the past, and is now in the State Industrial school at Ogden.

MUSTERING IN MANY INDIAN WAR VETERANS

The board of commissioners of Indian war veterans, created by the last legislature, returned to Salt Lake City Monday, from the southern part of the state and held a meeting in the secretary of state's office. The board will have the rest of this week, in which time it hopes to almost complete its work in this country.

The board has finished the work of mustering in the Indian war veterans of Utah. Salt Lake City and Juarez counties, and will go to Emery county next week, establishing headquarters at Huntington. In the neighborhood of 1200 old Indian war veterans have been mustered in, and at least 750 more names will be placed on the rolls by the time the board covers the state.

POISON OAK AND IVY NEED TO BE SHUNNED

People who go up the canyons to gather autumn leaves should be very careful of poison oak and ivy. Several cases have been reported of persons who have been seriously poisoned by coming in contact with the vine. One well-known woman of Salt Lake has been dangerously ill at her home for a week due to poison from poison oak, but is now recovering. Children and dogs should be accompanied by persons who know these two vines, when they make excursions after leaves.

STILL TRYING HARD TO SAVE JOHN WALSH

Document Said to Contain New Evidence Is Presented to the Court.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—A document containing additional citations of recently decided cases bearing upon the question of inconsistency and repugnance alleged against John R. Walsh was filed with the clerk of the United States circuit court of appeals here today.

Mr. Walsh, president of the Chicago National bank, was convicted of misapplying the defunct bank's funds. He appealed, and a decision from the appellate bench is expected tomorrow. It is charged among other things, by Walsh's counsel that the counts of the indictment against him were contradictory. It is uncertain whether the new citations will be received by the court, whose findings are still unknown to the public. Have already been printed for distribution.

Great interest centers in the verdict. Mr. Walsh rose from obscurity to the mastery of millions. His bank was one of the city's financial institutions. He obtained control of railroads, coal mines, quarries, steamships and the like to an extent, which had his luck held, would have made him one of the country's richest men. He is alleged, however, to have misapplied $16,000,000 of the bank's funds through memoranda notes signed with the names of clerks, in an endeavor to keep his vast interests afloat.

On March 18, 1905, the Chicago National failed.

Walsh was found guilty on fifty-four counts and sentenced to five years imprisonment in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

TREASURER'S OFFICE EXPERIENCES A RUSH

County Treasurer Groesbeck and his office forces experienced their first heavy day Monday before the taxpaying rush begins in earnest early next month. In the neighborhood of $10,000 in taxes came in Monday. In all about $30,000 in taxes have been received since the tax notices came out. The number of about 60,000 were sent out the first of last month, and the county treasurer expects a steady rush from now on. The crush will come after the first week of November, and the penalty after November 15, and the penalty then is added.

STOMACH, LIVER, LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time.

"Weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.
